CALM

PHASE I

Finding calm and allowing for privacy. With three terraces, this space designed for sharing while also providing seclusion gives each area an outdoor spot connected to the serenity and tranquility of our jungle lung. The main bedroom, through Elena Toussaint's pragmatic sensitivity via the abstraction of colors, culminates its setting with the headboard of the master bedroom, complementing the world of interior design and furniture that pursues continuity and softness in its lines.

The combination of two wood tones, dark stone flooring, and the continuity between the ceiling and wall construct the shared space, which opens up to the terrace complemented by its pool and seed, enhancing the relationship with the jungle.
